RE: COVID-19 – Essential Business Operations

IAC Supply Solutions, Inc. is considered an essential business to support the critical infrastructure within the United States during the COVID-19 response. Therefore, IAC is open and here to serve our customers. We have implemented various contingency plans, including some that have various employees working remotely from home. This also enables our in-office employees to practice social distancing.

Our #1 priority is keeping our employees safe and healthy while serving our customers.

We have outfitted all of our delivery drivers with the appropriate personal protective equipment as they continue to make deliveries to customer locations. In addition, IAC will provide curbside service to customers who wish to pick up products at our locations and stay in their vehicles.

We look forward to serving our customers even during these unprecedented times.
